TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Brussels, 15 March 2012

GS1 is a worldwide not-for-profit organisation with Member Organisations in 111 countries. GS1 develops international standards for product identification using bar-codes and radio frequency identification as well as business-to-business standards for electronic commerce and data synchronisation. Today, two million companies worldwide - manufacturers, retailers, SMEs and multinational companies, use GS1 standards. This has led to increased efficiencies in supply chain operations on a global scale and major cost reductions for business.

Manufacturers and retailers rely on the GS1 system because they know that the GS1 barcode numbers used on products and communicated electronically in business messages are unique against all other GS1 numbers. To ensure GS1 numbers are globally unique and the correct standards based implementation support is provided to local GS1 user companies, GS1 has authorised one GS1 Member Organisation in each country to manage the GS1 system.

In Romania, GS1 Romania administers the GS1 System and is the only official source for GS1 barcode numbers and standards.

 Romanian manufacturers that obtain barcode numbers from web sites claiming the numbers originate with the worldwide body, GS1, and are unique globally, should exercise extreme caution. Only GS1 Romania is authorized to provide GS1 barcode numbers in Romania.

The barcode numbers provided by these web sites do not originate with GS1 or GS1 Romania and their uniqueness cannot be guaranteed. Furthermore, GS1 will be unable to validate the numbers for electronic commerce as it has no means of tracing to whom the numbers have been assigned. Please contact GS1 Romania to confirm that your barcode numbers are valid.

Unauthorised barcode number sellers undermine the integrity of the GS1 standards system, create confusion in the market and disrupt the functioning of supply chains in Romania and abroad. Romanian manufacturers that obtain their barcode numbers from an unofficial source may suffer losses if their products are rejected by retail.

Signed for GS1 by:

__________________________
Miguel A. Lopera
President & CEO